Your online Self-assessment is research-based and identifies the communication style you use most comfortably. It takes about 20 minutes to complete before the 1st workshop. Then your personal Profile Report is generated. You receive your printed Profile Report at the 1st workshop.

Your Report gives you specific information about your most comfortable communication style and how you can better connect with others who have different communication styles. This is a valuable tool because it describes practical strategies to form stronger personal and work relationships.

For the Business Models, the following is also included:

The RelationSHAPE™ Roadmap Workbook (60 pages) contains additional information about observing different styles, knowing strengths, and adjusting communication, which results in better understanding
